MERS, as a governmental plan, is exempted by state and federal law from registration with the SEC. The MERS Funds consist of a portfolio of assets managed in a separate account in a collective trust, specifically for MERS Plans. Unlike a mutual fund, only the participants in a MERS Plan can invest in the MERS Funds. Because the MERS Funds are not mutual funds, a prospectus is not available.

State Street Bank and Trust, as the custodian for the MERS Funds, calculates the unit value as of the close of business each day. The MERS Funds invest in a broad selection of securities. Some securities may not be priced daily or prices may be determined on a delayed basis. These securities are reflected in the unit value of the fund at their most recent market value adjusted for interim cash flows.

MERS Funds are constructed utilizing several underlying investment strategies within a particular asset class. Consequently, a fund's asset allocation may vary over time as a result of underlying manager activity.

Funds are subject to investment risks from a number of sources, including the management style of the fund and market volatility. Markets are volatile and can rise or decline significantly in response to company, political, regulatory, market or economic developments. A fund's total return, like securities prices generally, will fluctuate within a wide range. As a result, an investor could lose money over short or even long periods. Funds are also subject to investment-related risk, which is the chance that returns from companies invested in by the fund will trail returns from other asset classes or the overall market.
